

EasySave

User Documentation V2.0

How to use the software?

I – Getting started

Overview

The main menu will appear when you launch the application:

From here, you can select an option.

You can either:

- Access the save work list
- Create a save work
- Access the settings
- Leave

II – Options

1 - Save work list

In this menu, you will be able to see every save work slots.

You can also either:

- Launch a save work
- Launch all save works
- Delete a save work

2 - Create a save work

In this menu, you will have to choose a name for the save work.

You will also have to select a source folder to copy, as well as a destination folder where the files will be copied.

Then, you will have to choose its type between complete or differential.

A complete save work will copy every file in the source folder to the destination folder.

A differential save work will only copy the files that have been added/modified since the last time you saved.

3 - Settings

In the settings, you'll have a few options you can configure.

Change language

You will be able to choose the language of the application. Indeed, the application is available in French and in English.

Change logs format

You can also change the logs format. You can choose either the JSON or XML format.

Blacklist business software

Here, you can add a list of softwares that should interrupt the saving process when its launched, or block the execution of a save work.

Define extensions

Here, you can define which file extensions should be encrypted during the saving process.

4 - Leave the application

Clicking here will close the application.
